NY Jets	5	11	0	5.7	10.3	-0.7	3	5

Pythagorean Theorem

The Pythagorean theorem is a formula that calculates a team's points scored and allowed into an "expected" winning percentage. Based on this formula for the 2017 season, New England, Buffalo and Miami all over achieved by 1-2.5 wins last year. Meanwhile, the Jets slightly under achieved by about a half win last year. Combine that with all three over achievers also doing well in close games while the Jets did not do well. Obviously offseason moves, injuries, etc will also play into this seasons wins and losses.

TEAM	PROJ WINS	TOTAL OPP WINS	Schedule Rank	PROJ WINS BASED ON PRED LINES
New England	11.5	122.8	31	10.96
Miami	6.8	128.4	19	6.61
Buffalo	6.4	132.1	3	6.41
NY Jets	5.8	127.9	20	6.14

The table to the left shows projected wins as set by the odds makers for 2018. The expected win total is an average from the over and under lines for each team, factoring in the extra juice typically applied to these lines. The Bills projected over under win total is 6.4 wins. When factoring in all of their opponents projected win totals, they add up to 132.1 wins and rank as the third hardest schedule. NE has the 31st toughest schedule. In other words they have a very easy schedule. Based on projected lines for all games we can develop a projected win pct based on those lines. The Pat are only projected to win 10.96 wins vs their 11.5 win projection. While the Jets have a tough schedule (10th toughest) their numbers are a little cheap with 6.14 projected wins vs a OU number of 5.8 wins.
